Some Thoughts to Reflect on from The 5777 TBS High Holy Day Sermons

From Liz Bergmann-Harms (Yom Kippur Day):

So as I was scrolling through my Facebook feed several months ago, this saying grabbed my attention, “The trouble is, you think you have time.”...

Before we act, decide, speak, we can choose to think about how our actions may affect others, including future generations. For God does not ask only that we admit guilt and ask forgiveness on Yom Kippur, but that we work to change ourselves through our actions. In our Haftarah portion, Isaiah 38, we hear that God does not care for insincere fasting and displays of false piety. God wants deeds. Fight injustice, free the oppressed, give care to the needy, make peace with your family. Then Adonai will be there for you, strengthening you, and giving you comfort....

So in this new year, let us pray for the ability to be aware, of each other, of the beauty of this world which God created. May we engage in acts of kindness, welcome the stranger, visit the sick, comfort the bereaved, rejoice with bride and groom, share our bread with the hungry. Let us lift up the fallen, and strive to create peace. Let us work to remember that each day of life is a gift that has been granted to us. Let us be conscious of the choices that we face each day, and may our choices serve to bring lasting blessing to our loved ones and our community. Thus, when death does come for us, may our lives be remembered as gifts to the future.

From Rabbi Debbie Stiel (Rosh Hashanah morning)

Yet these two stories about Hagar and Chana, when compared side by side, encourage us to put hope to work for us. Hope can serve as a counterbalance keeping us from becoming too negative and pessimistic. And it keeps us from “catastrophizing” - from imagining the worst possible scenario. It is a hopeful perspective that moves us away from becoming bitter or even completely avoiding facing an issue because of the enormity of the challenge.

Dr. Jerome Groopman (in Anatomy of Hope) writes, “researchers are learning that a change in mind-set has the power to alter neurochemistry. Belief and expectation – the key elements of hope—can block pain by releasing the brain’s endorphins and enkephalins, mimicking the effects of morphine. In some cases, hope can also have important effects on fundamental physiological processes like respiration, circulation and motor function. During the course of an illness, then, hope can be imagined as a domino effect, a chain reaction in which each link makes improvement more likely.”

From Rabbi Debbie Stiel (Erev Rosh Hashanah)

Repentance is more important to the Jewish belief system and our way of approaching the world than you may realize. We see this if we compare early Christianity and early Judaism. This is one of the places where the two faiths diverge....

Yes, the rabbis say, we will make mistakes. We are flawed. Humans have imperfect knowledge, and even when we know what is right, we are often driven by our emotions to make bad choices. We can be stupid and stubborn. But, on the other hand, our ability to grow and develop is one of the hallmarks of being a human, and according to the rabbis this is cause for celebration! They emphasized that if we try to change, God is there to meet us and help us. ...

Rabbi David Hartman notes, “teshuvah presupposes that habit does not lock a person into an inexorable chain of conduct, but that change and self-renewal are realistic human options.”

May these insights help us to make it a good year!

On behalf of the Topeka-Manhattan Jewish Federation, we are asking for your help. Once a year we join with Jewish Federations throughout the world in raising money to help Jews in need. We do our campaign in November, and are asking for your contributions.

Approximately 65% of the money the Topeka-Manhattan Jewish Federation raises is sent to the national Jewish Federations of North America office to help Jews throughout the world. The rest is distributed locally to help with camp scholarships, KU and KSU Hillel, the regional ADL, local indigent Jewish needs and the regional Jewish Community Relations Council.

Please help the Jewish community by donating to this essential drive. Please make your check out to Topeka-Manhattan Jewish Federation and send it to the Temple. We thank you in advance for your tzedakah!

Jewish Approaches to Learning About Our World And Nature

10:30am – 12:30 pm, Sunday, November 20, 2016

in Temple Beth Sholom's Social Hall

What is the Global Day of Jewish Learning?

Over 500 Jewish communities all around the world come together to celebrate our shared heritage at the same time: the annual Global Day of Jewish Learning. To be Jewish is to think, to study, and to learn, so that's how we celebrate!

Why Should You Join?

Elaine Schwartz and LaDonna Kelly will lead us in studying and discussing the part of the Global Day Curriculum that looks at living modern life in balance with nature. The unit is titled "Green Torah Wisdom." In this session, we will explore the question "What does it mean to be a Jewish environmentalist?" We will start by screening an ELI Talk given by Rabbi Troster and then discuss the ideas he raises while delving into Jewish texts on this topic. As we study, we will look at traditional texts as well as discover what new insights we each have to share with each other.

Bonus: Free food!

Bagels will be served at 12:15. Please bring a side-dish or dessert to share. Meet in the Social Hall and join Jewish groups worldwide in studying Torah and fellowship with friends and family.

Basic Judaism Class To Be Offered

Rabbi Stiel will once again be offering the Basic Judaism (Intro to Judaism) class. This 13 session class will start November 6 at 11:30am in the Social Hall and be held on certain Sundays. Basic Judaism is an excellent class for anyone, Jewish or non-Jewish, who wants to deepen their Jewish knowledge, and it is required for those individuals wanting to convert.

The course will cover such topics as who is a Jew, Jewish views of God, the Jewish Bible, rabbinic literature, Jewish lifecycle events, Jewish holidays, and the order of the prayer service. Those interested should purchase the text Essential Judaism: A Complete Guide to Beliefs, Customs and Rituals by George Robinson.

The cost for the class is $40 for Temple members and $80 for non-members (for an individual or a couple). If you are interested in taking the class, please call the Temple to sign up and join us on November 6.

BE SURE YOU CAN VOTE NOVEMBER 8

This is such an important election. Are you registered? Unfortunately, October 18 was the deadline to register to vote or to change your address. To check your voting status, go to myvoteinfo.voteks.org. This site will also show your polling place. Do check because many of the places were changed.

If you are registered, advance voting starts in Shawnee County, October 24, 8:00 am to 5:00 pm that week; October 31, 8:00 am - 7:00 pm that week, and ends at noon on November 7. The Shawnee county election office is at 3420 SW Van Buren Street, Topeka 66611. Tel: 266-0285. Turn east on St. Croix Street off Topeka Blvd. at the Pizza Hut. Parking lot is on Croix and enter building from the parking lot. The election office will be right in front of you at the bend in the street. To find other county election offices, go to voteks.org and click on Contact Your County.

You can request a ballot by mail either for the November 8 election or for a permanent mail ballot. Go to kssos.org to obtain an AV1 form for the November 8 election or an AV2 form for a permanent advance ballot for all elections. Mail them to your county election office. Don't wait for the request deadline of November 4 because that does not leave enough time to return the ballot before the 7:00 pm deadline on November 8.

Five Supreme Court and six Court of Appeals judges will be on the ballot for retention. Governor Brownback wants to change the current selection method for the Supreme Court from nomination of three candidates by a special non-partisan committee of lawyers and lay persons, selection among the candidates by the governor, and then retention or not by the voters. Governor Brownback prefers selection by the governor and confirmation by the Kansas Senate. Kscourts.org is the very complete judicial branch site.

Memorial Plaques

Our Temple memorial plaques provide a special place to honor those who have especially touched our lives. Memorializing the names of our loved ones expresses our gratitude for the gift of their precious lives, and our hope that their spirits continue to inspire us. Our members commemorate and honor them by making charitable gifts in their honor and by adding plaques in their names to the beautiful memorial boards in the sanctuary foyer.

In accordance with Jewish tradition, we mark the memories of these loved ones with a light. We illuminate each plaque at the yahrzeit, annual anniversary of death, of each person.

The bronze plaques are $300 each. If you would like to purchase spots on that board (to reserve space for future need) or order a memorial plaque, please contact the Temple office 272-6040.
